The Shirley Bill Endowed Fund recognizes the centrality of teaching to everything we do in our academic life. What better way of endowing funds that proclaim the importance of teaching to us as individuals and as a Society than by rewarding teaching and by honoring teachers who have had a profound influence in our development as scholars and teachers? Nearly all of us have had at least one professor who has served as a model as a teacher, a scholar, an advisor—or perhaps all three—and have wished for a way to honor this teacher and to show our appreciation for that teacher’s inspiration, time, wise comments, and encouragement. We can honor and acknowledge those teachers by contributing $300 in the name of a particular teacher and designating that contribution to the Shirley Bill Teaching Fund. If you would like to honor other great teachers, please send contributions to: ASECS, PO Box 7867, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, NC 27109

2016 Graduate Student Conference Paper Competition

The ASECS Executive Board offers an award of $200 for the best paper presented by a graduate student at the Pittsburgh ASECS Annual Meeting (regional meetings do not qualify).

Papers submitted for this award may be no longer than 2500 words plus notes. Papers exceeding this length will be disqualified. Entries MUST be sent via e-mail to the Business Office (asecs@wfu.edu) no later than Monday, April 4, 2016.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture Volume 47

Studies in Eighteenth-Century Culture is an interdisciplinary journal published annually for the American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies (ASECS) by the Johns Hopkins University Press. SECC publishes revised versions of papers read at national and regional conferences of ASECS and its affiliates (including the Society of Early Americanists, Early Caribbean Society, SHARP, etc.).

For the 2016-17 volume (47) the editors encourage theoretically informed, academically rigorous essays that reflect new directions for research in the field of eighteenth-century culture, including literature, history, art history, theater and performance studies, music, ethnic studies, women's and gender studies, etc. Essays from previously under-represented disciplines are particularly welcome. Now digitized as part of Project Muse, SECC is included in the membership fees of Sponsors and Patrons of the Society, and is offered to all members at discount.

In addition to our usual practice of publishing individual papers, we invite panel chairs and/or participants to submit panels of 3-4 papers (in the case of double or triple sessions on the same topic, these can be selected from different sessions). The papers should be revised into 5000-6000 word essays, and prefaced by a short introduction, situating the topic in the profession. We think that publishing at least one panel will help SECC to highlight new directions and debates in 18C studies and give the journal some of the excitement of our conferences. We encourage those interested to send us a proposal and short abstracts of the suggested papers in advance of asking participants to revise papers-- but please ensure that they are willing to revise them first.

Guidelines for Submission: conference papers presented at regional and national meetings of ASECS and its affiliate societies between JULY 1, 2015 and JUNE 30, 2016 are eligible. Papers should be substantially revised from their conference version and use the Chicago Manual of Style for annotation. Submissions are normally written in English but may include other commonly-used modern European languages, and typically average 20 to 25 double-spaced pages in length. Contributions will be judged according to the highest standards of scholarship by blind review. Authors are thus asked to avoid identifying themselves throughout (any reference to one's own scholarship should be made in the third person). The editors of SECC cannot consider papers already submitted to other journals. The deadline for submission is August 18, 2016.

Electronic submission is preferred: etbannet@ou.edu

Submissions in hard copy may also be sent to:

Department of English
University of Oklahoma

Guidelines for Annual Meeting Session Organizers and Presenters

The ASECS is committed to making arrangements that allow all members of the society to participate in the annual meeting. Therefore, the ASECS requests that all session organizers and presenters review the following information and take the necessary steps to make their sessions accessible to attendees with permanent or temporary disabilities. While the guidelines listed below have been designed to provide access to attendees with disabilities, many will benefit all convention participants.

Room Setup -- Space has been left for two wheelchairs in each meeting room. Please keep this area and the aisles clear for persons who may be using wheelchairs, canes, crutches, or motorized vehicles. Space should be left around the doors and aisles to allow access.

People who are deaf or hard of hearing and who use sign language interpreters or read lips need to sit where they can see both the speakers and the interpreter. The interpreter may stand close to the speaker or within a direct line of sight to allow the audience to view both the speaker and the interpreter. Speakers should be aware of the location of interpreters and attempt to keep this line of vision clear.

Papers, Handouts, and Audiovisuals -- Participants should bring five copies of their presentations, even in draft form, for the use of members who wish or need to follow a written text. Participants who use handouts should prepare three copies in large-print format (boldface 14- to 16-point font size) and briefly describe or read all handouts to the audience. Avoid colored papers. Participants should indicate whether they want their documents returned.

Consider the possibility that persons in the audience may be blind. Allow ample time when referring to a visual aid or handout or when pointing out the location of materials. Briefly describe the materials.

When not using a projector, turn it off. This reduces background noise and helps focus audience attention on the presenter.

Communication and Presentation -- Speak clearly and distinctly, but do not shout. Use regular speed unless asked to slow down by members of the audience, sign interpreters, or persons using real-time captioning.

Because microphones often fail to pick up voices in the audience, speakers should always repeat questions or statements made by members of the audience. In dialogues or discussions, only one person should speak at a time, and speakers should identify themselves so that audience members will know who is talking.

Avoid speaking from a darkened area of the room. Some people read lips, so the audience should have a direct and clear view of the speaker's mouth and face.

The doctor is IN” is a kind of help desk that will provide mentoring for students to mid-career faculty at all manner of institutions. The format is like speed-mentoring (you can either drop in or make an appointment)—specialists will counsel others on such topics as:

- what are appropriate structure / categories for CVs, especially for work in the US;
- how to say no (nicely) to more service;
- how to interpret readers’ comments after an article is returned and how to tackle a revision;
- what are good venues for grants;
- how does one write a job letter to a 4/4 institution when one is a

- graduate student at an R1 school;
- what are ways to do or incorporate research at teaching institutions;
- how to choose a journal for an article;
- how to track citations of one's work and make sense of it;
- how does one write an attractive book proposal for an edition, an anthology, a monograph—and for which kind of press;
- what kinds of publishing and scholarly venues are helpful for people with access needs;
- what are allied professions other than university teaching,
- dual career couples / work-life situations;
- stopping the tenure clock?;
- adjunct concerns
- and etc., etc., etc.

Keep ASECS Alive and Growing

The primary mission of the American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies is to advance the study and teaching of the eighteenth-century and encourage scholarly work that crosses the boundaries between different academic disciplines. To achieve this, a number of endowed funds have been established from which awards are made to recognize achievements in scholarship and teaching and to assist members needing to travel to special collections or wishing to spend a residency at a major research library with which ASECS sponsors a joint fellowship. These programs are not funded through the regular operating budget of the Society but are made possible exclusively by the generosity of our members. All contributions are tax-deductible [not-for-profit organization under the Internal Revenue Code Section 501 (c) (3)] and will be acknowledged in writing. Please consider making a gift that will allow ASECS to maintain and expand the opportunities and benefits offered to its membership.

Eighteenth-Century Life

Committed to interdisciplinary exchange, Eighteenth-Century Life addresses all aspects of European and world culture during the long eighteenth century, 1660–1815. The most wide-ranging journal of eighteenth-century studies, it encourages diverse methodologies—from close reading to cultural studies—and it welcomes suggestions for review essays, special issues, and innovative approaches.

VOLTAIRE

Voltaire: Enlightenment through history

The Voltaire Foundation's research project, Voltaire: historian of modernity, re-evaluates Voltaire as a historian within his overall philosophical work, and includes first-ever full critical print editions of his pioneering 'modern history' texts:

- Lettres sur les Anglais
- Siècle de Louis XIV
- Précis du siècle de Louis XV
- Essai sur les mœurs et l'esprit des nations.

Available in 2016 (text and annotation):

- Siècle de Louis XIV
- Essai sur les mœurs

Indispensable research tools

'This edition highlights the central role of the Essai in the emergence of modern historical thinking.'
